EIGHT EUROPEAN junior executives have arrived in Warren under the auspices of the local Junior Chamber of Commerce and will spend several days here visiting industry and making other appearances.

The visitors are living in individual homes during their stay.

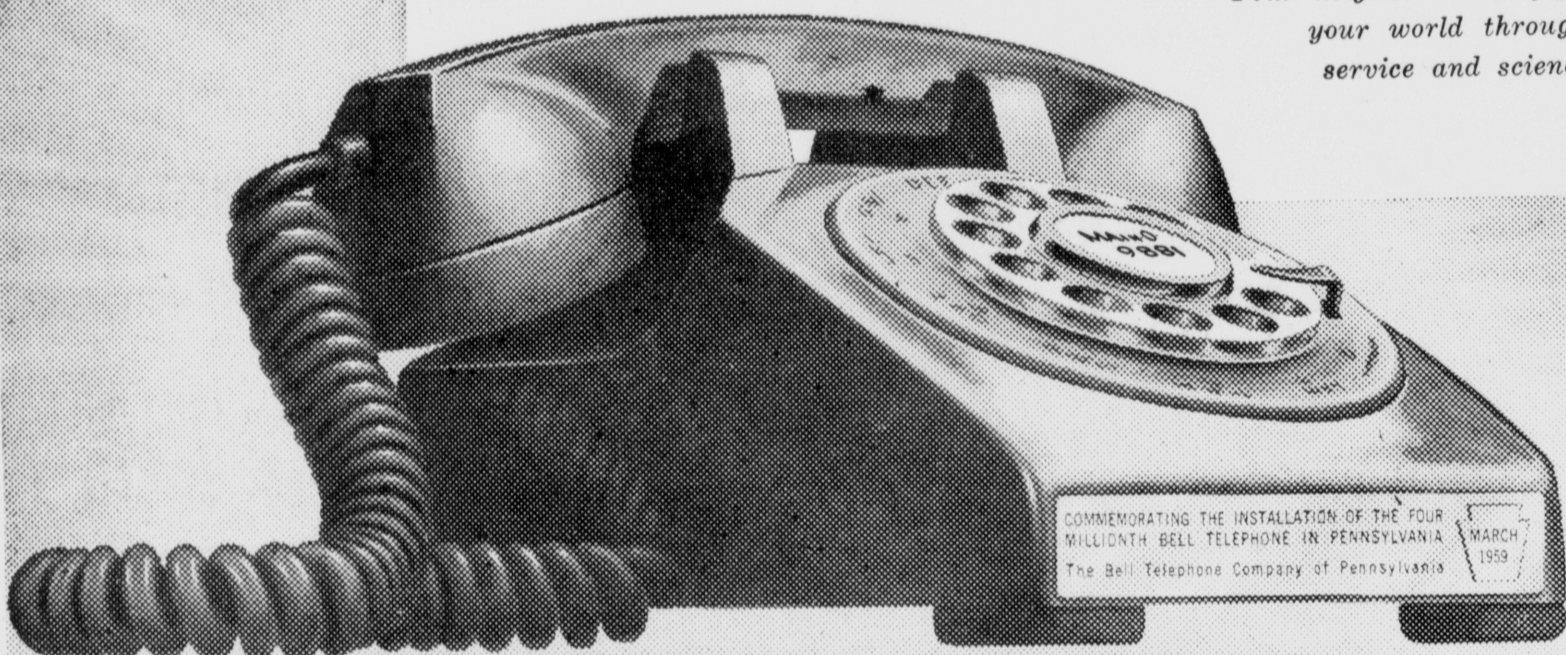

WRAPPED 'ER. Robert Cook, a West Hickory resident, wrapped this Studebaker around a utility pole on the three-lane north of Warren at the High Board Fence last Thursday night, but escaped with only a possible fractured elbow. A passenger, Greta Nelson, of Warren, escaped the crash with bruises.

This week we will install the four millionth Bell telephone in Pennsylvania. To us, this is a newsworthy event, a milestone in our busy history. But, more important, it is indicative of how the telephone continues to enlarge your world and thus increase the value of your telephone service. Each new telephone we install is a daily reminder of your confidence in us. We will continue to keep your telephone service one of the best values in your household or business budget.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

WHAT HAPPENED ON EASTER?

You may be an atheist, a communist, a Moslem, a Hindu, a Jew, an agnostic, or whatever your environment, birth, or thinking has made you, but there is one fact you face . . . there was a Christ, and you cannot avoid Him.

Every day you live is calendered to His existence. Every legal document or act is measured by a scale founded on His visit with man. Whether you wish it so or not He is on your calendar, in your check-book, on your mortgage, on your marriage certificate, your birth certificate, and will be on your death certificate. Believer or non-believer you can not escape Christ.

You may observe the Easter season with new clothing, you may limit your observance to flowers for the mother who bore you and for the woman most dear to you, and even for ladies for whom you wish to show no more than your respect, but you are brightening their lives and your act is not inspired by your own big-heartedness. You didn't dream up the day. You may be the greatest of doubters, but you conform. And if you don't, your very stubbornness is a recognition.

There are many who go to church once a year, or little more than that. And the day is Easter. Proof of which is the always-crowded churches on this day. No matter how hard they run the rest of the year, the semi-Christians and many who are not even semi, are brought to church on Easter morning. On the 365th day they have not escaped Christ.

Many sincere people avoid church on Easter. They have not been regular attendants and they feel it is hypocritical to blossom out in new feathers for the purpose of strutting down the aisle on this important date. Their sincere effort to be consistent and their apparent shame at pretending otherwise is an admittance that they are influenced by Him.

The skeptic attempts to live independently and outside of the moral law. But how does he know that he is violating principles? Why does he need to explain his actions and state his right to live as he wishes? His conscience would be easier and his place in society would be more secure if there had not been a Christ.

The deliberate discreditor of Christian beliefs lives in a violent daily contact with Him who originated them.

Yes, many will say, there was a Christ. History proves that. But He was no more than a great teacher who gave us a wonderful philosophy. We respect Him and love Him, but much that He gave us was not new. It already had been said in the Old Testament and in the Jewish laws.

And they will point out that immortality is not limited to Christianity and was believed by many before Christ was born. You can believe in immortality and not believe in the Resurrection.

But those who believe in Easter and what it represents know more about immortality than the possibility that it is so. They have at least a small conception of what form immortality takes.

The skeptic will say there is no proof that Christ arose from the dead. The Bible says so, but where is the historical proof, they ask.

If the Bible is not correct in its explanation of the events following Christ's Crucifixion, what did happen in those eventful days? The doubter, if he is to have real foundation for his doubt, must explain to himself what occurred on Easter.

It is historical fact that Christianity started with one leader and a very small group of followers. Even in the first and second centuries the number was very small. What gave them the courage to live and to believe? What made this small group more lasting than the Roman Empire?

Today there are millions! Today we have great nations such as the United States and Great Britain. In those nations we find the greatest freedom of man and the greatest progress for the comfort of man.

In the land of other great religions, great in respect to numbers, we find backwardness, oppression, caste systems, ignorance, poverty, and a tendency to look for relief in atheistic communism.

We started from a dozen, have outlived empires, and now have millions. We started with oppressed groups in caves, hovels, back rooms. Today we have beautiful edifices that represent the moral fibre of the nations in which they thrive.

What happened on Easter two thousand years ago? What happened to change a few frightened disciples into brave martyrs? They fled when Christ was crucified. They denied Him.

But after Easter they were willing to stand up and be counted. They gave their lives to carry His message. They were thrown to lions; they were burned; they were crucified.

It has been reasoned that Christ did not die. That a plot was carried out to remove Him from the cross before He died and to have Him appear a few days later.

But those who were party to such a plot would have not been given courage by it. It is an inadequate explanation, an explanation that history does not substantiate.

Christ lived! The disciples saw to that. And disciples down through the centuries, centuries measured by a calendar fitted to his birth, have been keeping him alive.

What happened on that first Easter, you who doubt? Whatever it was, you cannot escape it.

BUYERS' CORNER

YOUR INSURANCE SOON WILL GO UP

Editors of the state are being bombarded by publicity put out by the public relations offices of insurance underwriters and insurance business generally for the purpose of convincing you that you should pay more money to insure your car. Accidents are increasing, cost of repairs to man and machine are going up, and juries are being too generous.

So say the information offices of the insurance business. And they are asking for higher rates. In fact, asked for them at a public-hearing on March 19. If they get what they want your insurance bill will go up 17 per cent for bodily injury and property damage, almost 12 per cent if you drive a commercial car, and over 16 per cent for garage risks.

These increases are on top of those allowed July 3, 1957 and November 27, 1957, amounting to 6.1 per cent for passenger cars, 5.9 per cent for commercial cars, and 9.3 per cent for garages.

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters claims underwriting losses have been incurred the past three years, despite the increases. For every $100 of earned premium, the claims and expenses of these companies amounted to $102.30 in 1956, and $111.60 in 1957. These losses totaled $7 billion it is claimed.

It is argued that the average bodily injury cost has moved from $511 in 1955 to $619 in 1958, and the average property damage cost has jumped from $92 in 1955 to $117 in 1958. These are changes of 21 and 27 per cent, respectively.

There also are more claims per every 100 cars, and the number of killed has increased from 70,109 in 1954 to 89,387 in 1958.

The proposed increases would affect only those companies who are members of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters. These write about 31 per cent of the insurance in Pennsylvania. Other companies are not affected by the proposed changes.

The rates are limited only to Pennsylvania and are affected only by the experience of Pennsylvania drivers. Reducing to even smaller planes, the rates vary by territory. There are twenty of these in Pennsylvania and each has its own liability loss rate.

We find one aspect of the rating a bit confusing. It is said that accidents caused by drivers from other areas do not affect the local rate. Such losses are charged against the home territory of the driver. But it also is said that local rates are determined by the territory's experience and should not be charged against other areas. They reflect court and claim conditions, repair costs, traffic laws, and safety campaigns. There is contradiction here.

There is no denying that the cost of living is going up and has been doing so for several years. This cost increase certainly affects medical care and car repair. It seems logical that insurance payments must increase.

But we do not understand why we have gone through the continuing inflation period with no action. A sudden increase of 17 per cent is a major change and hits the insurance budget of Pennsylvania motorists with quite a slap.

It seems that a system which allows for annual adjustments, up and down, would be much more practical. It would be kinder to the private budget and fair to the insurer.

It is no secret that insurance companies do not make their millions through the profit on your premiums. It is the investment of those premiums which makes the insurance business one of our major financial empires. If they can come close to breaking even on premiums and casualty payments they will make out very well, as any insurance company's financial statement will so proudly tell you.

This is too fat a demand, representing either poor management on the part of those now asking it, or a hope that by asking for so much they will get more than enough.

The best news found in these appeals for publicity which will favor premium increases is the reduction of the number of accidents in our state. In 1956 there were 160,236 accidents and in 1958 the number was down to 156,825. The number of fatalities dropped from 1,790 to 1,654.

But wrap-around windshields and rear fenders are costing four or five times what they did ten years ago. However, a peek at your insurance checks may reveal that your insurance bill has not stayed completely dormant.

COUNTY'S FOURTH FATALITY. A one-car accident that happened shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night at the Miller Hill rd. and Jackson Run rd. intersection resulted in Warren County's fourth traffic fatality of 1959.

Killed instantly when his car failed to negotiate the curve and rolled over an embankment was Lawrence Barhite, age 46, of the Miller Hill rd. area and an employe of Sylvania Electric.

Faulty brakes are believed to have caused the operator of the car to lose control as he came off of Miller Hill, the crash at the intersection resulting.

A PERMANENT FLOOD committee of Warren Borough Council has been completely formed by president Leon Laskaris. The committee, which is designated to be concerned with all flood problems in the community, consists of John Carbon, chairman, Richard Meacham, Art Langdon, Nick Merenick, Jim Torrance, Henry Lanman, Maurice Emery and Karl Timm.

CLOSING FOR SERVICES. Most of the retailer stores in Warren will close from 12 noon to 3 p.m. for Good Friday services.

Warren Public Library will also close for this period, but will then open from 3 until 9 p.m.

DIVORCES granted by the court on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week were in the cases of Joan Harmon Jensen vs. Fred Jensen, Carol Deloy vs. Florence Joseph Deloy, Bernard E. Ross vs. Mary T. Ross, Rosemary K. Conroe vs. James W. Conroe, Patricia L. Dunn vs. Theodore James Dunn, George C. Quiggle vs. Peggyann Quiggle, Reva D. Brant vs. Harry W. Brant, Patricia Fitch vs. Gale Richard Fitch, Kathleen K. Smith vs. Paul E. Smith, David Cross vs. Nellie J. Cross.

SENTENCES HANDED DOWN. Richard Alan Wood, Youngsville man who confessed to starting a fire in Youngsville elementary school on February 20, was committed to Warren State Hospital for observation when he appeared in Quarter Sessions Court.

James L. Beers, for corrupting the morals of a minor, was sentenced to one year in jail and ordered to pay costs; Gerald D. Straight, charged with drunken driving, three days, a $100 fine and costs.

Several non-support cases were also acted on.

SUFFERED ELECTRICAL BURNS. A 60-year old Youngsville man was rushed to Warren General Hospital in serious condition Monday morning after suffering electrical burns and shock caused when a pipe he was handling touched a 33,000 volt high tension wire. The victim of the accident was Warren M. Johnson.

The incident took place at Starbrick where Johnson was drilling a water well.

SHEFFIELD SAFE ROBBERY. A thief made his way into the Sheffield high school supervising principal's office sometime between Friday night and early Saturday morning and made off with $101.58 after cracking open a safe.

Tools used in the operation, which has a marked similarity to a safe cracking job at the school in 1956, were taken from a nearby cemetery tool shed and from the janitors' closet.

Sheffield police, State Police and the Sheriff's Dept. are working together in the investigation.

AT GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE. Duane E. Wilder, of Warren, outlined the plan of development which has been recommended to Governor Lawrence by the Governor's Commission on Public Library Development at a Conference of Library Trustees in Harrisburg Monday.

The local executive has served on the finance committee of the Commission.

BUMP, BUMP, BUMP. Three autos proceeding east on Pennsylvania ave. Saturday afternoon suddenly found themselves bumping along when the brakes on the rear car failed and rammed the middle one, sending it into the front auto.

Drivers of the respective vehicles were Joseph D. Pasquino, 22 Conewango ave., Robert Hall, 110 Crescent, and Cecelia Thompson, Jackson Run rd. Damage was minor.

A SOUTH SIDE WOMAN escaped with only a fractured leg last Thursday afternoon when a car went on a wild rampage and ended up in her back yard.

Injured as she was working in her lawn was Katherine E. Sundell, of 116 St. Clair st.

The whole affair started when Edward J. Sweet, 114 Pleasant dr., blacked out while driving across the Hickory st. bridge. The borrowed auto he was driving struck the south end of the bridge, proceeded through the intersection, and jumped the curb. It then struck the side of the house, crashed through a fence, knocked over a pear tree and struck Mrs. Sundell before coming to a halt.

Damage was estimated at $2500 to the auto. Sweet was arrested by police for driving on a restricted license.

PLEADED GUILTY. Kenneth Ellsworth, who boarded at a West Side home, pleaded guilty when arraigned before a justice of peace Wednesday on a charge of taking a card without consent of the owner. He was held in default of a $300 cash or $600 property bond.

Police picked Ellsworth up at his residence after he took a car in the lot behind the home of the owner, Joseph Papalia, 1423 Pennsylvania ave., W. The car was recovered on Pine st.

THE OLD SITE at Lily Pond was the scene of another accident about 11 o'clock Tuesday night when a Lucinda, N.Y., driver failed to negotiate the curve and knocked over the railroad signal box. Total damage amounted to approximately $2,000, but the driver escaped with only minor injuries.

A HEARING on the petition of commissioners Blain Mead and Lewis Crippen to strike judgements of the auditors reports as to the accounts of prothonotary Ralph E. Sires for the fiscal years 1948 through 1955 will be heard by Judge Burton R. Laub, Erie County, in Warren April 4th.

The Erie judge accepted the position after Judge Elmer Evans, also of Erie County, ruled last Thursday that Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., should be disqualified from hearing the case as he had served as solicitor during some of the years involved.

HIT AND RUN. A hit and run driver, Cloyd Weaver, of R. D. 2, Warren, pleaded guilty to a hit and run charge when arraigned Monday and was released on $500 bail. He was picked up by State Police after striking a car operated by Howard Wagner, Irwin, around 8 o'clock Saturday night north of Tidioute on Route 62. He was attempting to pass the Wagner car when the incident took place and then proceeded on without stopping.

THE WEAPON. This is the Japanese model Lugar a hooded bandit used when he attempted to hold up John Young, co-owner of the Riverside Lanes, at the bowling alleys at 12:20 a.m. Saturday.

The gun was dropped when Young grappled with the masked man after running into him at the rear of the automatic pinsetting machine when he went to make repairs.

Young succeeded in knocking the man through the rear door of the lanes, but the bandit quickly vanished despite the fact that local and state police cruising in the area were at the scene in a matter of minutes.

The weapon was not loaded and officials were not sure if it could be fired.

The near victim of the hold up reported the man as about 5-8 tall and weighing 140 pounds. He wore a hood over his head.

A masked man who attempted an armed robbery at Yeaneys Store in Warren a week earlier answered a similar description.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

MAKING THE COURTROOM SCENE

We were on the 5:54 to Scarsdale and my friend Oswald G. Carruthers 4th (Princeton '40, Scarsdale '59) was complaining about television critics. "You miss the point entirely, you guys. You don't realize that television is escapism. It's the land of pure make-believe. It's very good for us--those tales of derring-do!"

"You mean the Westerns?" I asked.

"Westerns!" he snorted. "Westerns are for children. I get my escapism in the courtroom scenes. Have you ever watched Perry Mason stride into a courtroom and confound a witness? For sheer fantasy there's nothing like it. I mean he knows what he's doing which would get him thrown out of the Bar Association if he were a real life lawyer. In the first place, a real lawyer would never be in court..."

"Oh, come now," I protested. "Some lawyers have to go to court!"

"Never!" said Oswald firmly. "Not in this century. I mean not if they're any good. Now, you take my law firm, Avaricious, Dilatory, Flyspeck & Stupid..."

"That's their name?"

"It's not their real name. That's more like what they're like. The head of the firm hasn't been in court in generations. He takes great pride in that..."

"Well, that's 'cause court trials are wasteful and they try to save you the expense..."

"Well, that's what they tell their clients, of course. Actually, it's because courtroom trials involve some work and that a lawyer -- a good one -- wants to avoid at all costs. That's where Perry Mason is pure romantic moonshine. He likes courts; he even prepares his cases which is almost illegal in the legal profession."

"Another thing that's pure romance. When the guy walks in needing him, he's THERE. This is ridiculous. No lawyer is ever where you need him. He's on the golf course. Or he's in Florida. But the part I really like is the way he takes the inexplicable and makes it understandable. I mean all he's got to go on is the old man's will, the dead body, and the cuff links which were found on the golf course--and out of this he makes sense."

"Now, you take my lawyers--they work exactly opposite. Bring 'em in a traffic ticket to handle. Right away, they want a week to study it. 'Mustn't rush these things,' old Avaricious tells me. 'I'll need time to think about this.' Then comes the bill -- $500. That means he's read it. Lawyers are the only people who go to postgraduate college for three years simply to speed their reading.

Well, in law school they spend three years teaching them how to read slow.

"A week later, he writes a letter --and soaks you another $150 for that."

"Well, that's for his legal training."

"Oh, they're worth it. Some of the letters my lawyer has written would get him flunked out of Fifth Grade English--but you've got to admire a grown man being able to write such lousy English and get paid for it."

"Well, they have to be careful."

"Oh, my lawyers are very careful. My divorce decree is now studied in law schools the world over as an absolute masterpiece of hopeless legal incompetence. It takes three years in law school for anyone to learn how to screw things up that good. When old Avaricious gets through with a parking ticket, I'm in jail for larceny, embezzlement, and maybe murder. Of course, he's a bit of a genius of taking the trivial and making a Federal case out of it. Not all those swindlers are as expert as old Avaricious, Dilatory, Flyspeck & Stupid."

"Well, stupid isn't the word exactly, is it?" I asked.

"Oh sure, they're pretty stupid," he said sadly. "I can't afford the really smart lawyers. They're all working for Jimmy Hoffa. Or for Trujillo. The only people who get decent legal counsel in this country are the hoodlums. That's why so many people get such a bang out of Perry Mason. We can't get any decent legal care -- but we can dream, can't we?"

LONG AND ENTERTAINING

The most common groan extent today concerns the length and severity of our recent (nearly) winter which has been knee-deep and blustering. It has chilled our homes and spilled our cars. Our bones ache for sunshine, our eyes thirst for green, and even flies have a nasty attraction.

But in the midst of this frigidity there has been little room for that old lament that "there is nothing to do in our town". "Our town" usually refers to the average small community which is not rubbing elbows with a major metropolitan area.

A glance over the news events of our petering winter reveals a wide variety of attractions, ranging from good music to reasonably well performed sports. We have had many concerts, vocal and instrumental, some of which were performed by local talent and many involving nationally known artists. On the sports pages we find at least three county high school teams competing for top honors in their respective basketball leagues.

Seating at major events continues to be discouraging and there are thousands who have lost the habit of attending many functions due to unpleasant experiences. It is not conducive to attendance when the winter is rough, parking offers problems, and after all that you may not gain a seat, or even admittance.

Music has come from the voice and instruments of the Warren boy choir, the Warren high school a cappella choir, the barbershoppers, Warren civic orchestra, top performers brought in by the Jaycees, Thiel choir, high school orchestral groups, and others which escape us at the moment.

There has been drama presented by the Warren Players and by the Children's Theatre. There have been dinners with excellent speakers, a slide festival, a photographic exhibition, and a constant round of dinners, parties, meetings, and entertainment.

The writing of Things to Come has required an increasing amount of space, despite an effort to limit it to events affecting reasonably large groups. The Community Calendar grows in length and importance as chairmen and secretaries become aware of its necessity in a parade of events which make clear dates difficult to find and to reserve.

Still to be enjoyed are more movies in the Jaycee film festival, a Players Club production, the Brown University Glee Club, a gymnastic exhibition, the Mansfield State Teachers College band, the Farrah Grotto sport show, the Woman's Club talent recognition show, Jaycee inaugural ball, Beach Dance Studio recital, the Legion drum corps competition, the Legion fourth annual spectacle of music, the Fourth of July celebration, and numerous high school plays, science fair, and other scholastic events.

This is getting into the summer a bit but it is indicative of a busy life for those who care to participate, if they can find time. Though there may be nothing to do it is amazing how busy people are when you want them to serve on a committee or buy a ticket.

Sportswise we have had good high school basketball teams to watch and the Warren YMCA offered a fair league and an exciting tournament. There has been a major share of ice skating and there would have been more if the flood hadn't dealt us an icy blow in January. Warren's wrestling team was top-class and deserved support.

There was much lacking in outdoor sports activity, principally because most of us don't believe such winters will last. Ski runs have been built in the past and have been thawed out of existence by long series of mild winters. The same goes for other winter fun which depends on steep hills and a supply of snow. But your home town is not bereft of fun. You may have to drive a few miles, but we are sure you will find one of our highways a much easier artery to travel than would be the case if you lived in the city and had to get across town.

Once you fully appreciate the comparative travel value, into your life moves an even wider range of pleasures. Actually a golf course twenty miles away is far closer and much less crowded than one near a city. Chautauqua and its many-sided program of education, drama, art, music and related pleasures is only thirty miles away.

When you come right down to it what does the average city have that is so much more attractive than your own community. Burlesque, strip tease acts, night life, stifling heat, and sickening atmosphere?

When you talk of first run shows, opera, and most of the leading events you are thinking of only one place . . . New York City. And certainly everyone can not live there, though it may seem like it when you want to make a reservation or move in its traffic.

In fact few of the people who live in the cities fully utilize them. Some baseball fans in our area lament the lack of big league action. But judging by the attendance in the cities an exceedingly small percentage of the metropolitan residents care enough about the game to drive to the ball park. From millions of people they are lucky to attract ten or twenty thousand, and a share of those will be visiting rustics.

Even the world series would be lucky to fill the seats if it were dependent on the home crowd.

The tourist trade means much to the cities where the home folks fail to pay the way for most of those big events for which you mourn when you say there is nothing to do in your little community. If we can get that Allegheny river dam built and if we plan our county sufficiently well to attract the best class of tourists, some of those millions are going to return to Warren county cash registers.

And we do mean millions! The kind of millions which go only one way . . . ours! And stay with us. Be happy! We have it made, and the not-so-bad winter is melting before the light which is beginning to shine.

$2,000 IN ART PRIZES

Prizes to be awarded in the second annual National Jury Show to be held this summer by the Chautauqua Art Association will total $2,000, of which $750 will go to "best in show". Entries must be received between June 19 and 22, and they will be shown from July 6 to July 26 as the opening event of the Art Association's 1959 season.

Jurors are Sherman Emery Lee, director of the Cleveland Museum of Art; J. B. Neumann, a leading art dealer and now associated with the World House Galleries; and William Thon, distinguished artist with works in the permanent collections of many American museums.

Last summer's jury show received entries from thirty states and broke the gallery's attendance record. Details and entry blanks may be obtained by writing Mrs. Ruth Skinner, registrar, Chautauqua, New York.

A KITE CAN KILL YOU

Those stiff March winds sweep in memories from the past when kites were more prolific than in this day of rockets. Our space age had a string attached, and it was a safer string than those used today.

Kites still fly and they fly in greater danger to the boy at the end of the string. There are more powerful electric wires to be contacted and a real danger is to be found in limited areas.

Do not fly a kite in the rain and be sure you are using a dry cotton string. Have no metal in your kite or in your line. Stay far away from wires, and do not climb poles or substation fences to recover your toy. Also stay out of trees which are near wires.

What do you do about a kite that is stranded in a dangerous situation? Is it more valuable than your life? Leave it there!

IT WILL PAY YOU

Your name carefully printed or typed on your income tax return may be worth many dollars to you. The government had to search for 400,000 people whose names on their 1957 returns were so illegible that their refunds could not be returned.

Pittsburgh's office still has 300 undelivered refund checks. Some names are so scrawled they can't be read. Others have moved and have failed to leave a forwarding address. If you expect a refund, protect it with clarity.

SAFETY CONFERENCE

All industries have their problems with safety and there probably will be something for most of them in Pittsburgh's Penn-Sheraton hotel, April 14, 15 and 16, when the Western Pennsylvania safety engineering conference and exhibit will be held.

Tuesday's sessions will be concerned with civil defense, school, visual aids, small plant problems, religious activities, railroads, chemistry, and foundries.

On Wednesday the sessions are for industry, public utilities, hygiene, river transportation, coal mining, power and hand presses, fire prevention, nurses, and in the evening there will be a banquet.

On Thursday there will be sessions for those interested in traffic, metals, and home safety. The conference will be wrapped up with a luncheon that noon, addressed by Bernard H. Fox, chief of the accident prevention program for the U.S. Public Health Service.

Plants and communities are urged to send key men to the sessions which apply to their problems.

HIGHLY QUALIFIED and recipients of Honorary Certificates of Award issued by the Postmaster General were R. J. Pring (c.) and Axel Larson (r.). They were presented the certificates by B. S. Knabenshue, Warren postmaster.

Mr. Larson retired December 31 with over 40 years of service in several capacities, his latest position being that of Information Clerk.

He entered the post office as a substitute clerk in June of 1918.

Mr. Pring became a substitute clerk in September of 1926 and spent most of his time in the money order section until his retirement on June 8, 1956. Issuance of his certificate was unintentionally delayed through a misunderstanding in the Regional Office.

NBC RADIO STREAMLINES DAYTIME SCHEDULE

A new two-hour afternoon musical variety show, "It's Network Time", is part of NBC Radio's modernization of its daytime programming. The Monday-through-Friday show promises first-rate entertainment with human interest features interspersed with musical specialties and comedy segments. Co-hosts will be Frank Blair and Don Russell, and regulars will be vocalists June Valli and Tommy Leonetti, comedienne Pat Carroll and comedian Arnold Stang, plus many outstanding guest stars. The show will replace "Don Ameche's Real Life Stories", "One Man's Family", "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry", "Five Star Matinee", "Woman in My House" and "Pepper Young's Family".

Two 55-minute dramatic shows, each presenting a modern story complete daily or weekly, will comprise the morning schedule. News, documentaries, music and variety will be heard in evening hours.

TV FACES CONGRESS

More than fifty bills dealing with television and radio have been introduced in Congress since the first of the year. Subsequent hearings and decisions may vitally affect the future of the television industry and its millions of viewers.

Some of the weighty problems to be studied and acted upon relate to programming, how it is decided upon by networks, sponsors and advertising agencies, and the influence of the ratings system; subscription or pay-TV will be examined, with much pressure already being exerted by both proponents and opponents of the plan; possibility of direct federal regulation of networks to break the control of networks over affiliated stations; federal aid over a five-year period for educational television; and the study of crowded conditions of air waves with the possibility of allocating some military channels to civilian use, which may provide more channels for educational television.

NBC PLANS NEW PROJECTS FOR NEXT SEASON

NBC is evolving three new projects for next year as an outgrowth of its "kaleidoscope" series of this season. One of the new proposed series will be called "The Commandments" and will consist of ten 90-minute shows, each treating a commandment in a modern context. Prominent novelists are being approached by NBC to write the scripts. J. P. Marquand and Thomas B. Costain have already submitted tentative scripts and Ben Hecht wrote the script for the experimental production "The Third Commandment", seen this past season.

The second project will be a series called "The Story Behind", which will tell the backstage development of entertainment productions such as the show scheduled for April 5, "Sunrise At Campobello".

The third series will be called "Great American Families" and will single out American families distinguished by their achievements and way of living. An example is a show coming May 3, the story of the Cristiani Brothers Circus.

The "kaleidoscope" series, parent of the three new proposed projects, may be discontinued to make room for the new ones.

TV COVERAGE PLANNED FOR DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Preliminary plans for NBC-TV's coverage of the 1960 Democratic convention in Los Angeles have been completed. The network plans to use more than 350 people on its personnel staff, and will begin on-the-site work six weeks before the convention starts. New or improved equipment will be used and costs of televising both Democratic and Republican conventions in 1960 have been roughly estimated at $3 million.

SUMMER SCHEDULE

Repeats listed by NBC for the summer schedule include the following programs: "The Lawless Years", "Buckskin", "Restless Gun", "Tales of Wells Fargo", "Alcoa-Goodyear", "Arthur Murray Party", "Dragnet", "Pete Kelly's Blues", "The Californians", "Bob Cummings Show", "David Niven Show", "Wagon Train", "Bat Masterson", "This Is Your Life", "Steve Canyon", "Groucho Marx-You Bet Your Life", "Northwest Passage", "M Squad", "Thin Man", "People Are Funny", "Black Saddle", "Cimarron City" and "D. A.'s Man".

Replacements will be scheduled for "Saber of London", "Steve Allen", "Loretta Young Show", "Kraft Music Hall", "Jefferson Drum", "Behind Closed Doors", "Ford Show", "Perry Como Show".

Continuing programs will be "Chevy Show", "Jimmie Rodgers Show", "Price Is Right", "Oldsmobile Theatre", "Masquerade Party", "Ellery Queen", "Cavalcade of Sports", "Phillies Jackpot Bowling".

NEW NEXT SEASON

TRACE HUNTER is the title given a new one-hour Western series with a Wyoming locale to be seen next fall on NBC. Characters' sound familiarly like the current crop of Westerns.

PHILIP MARLOWE, a filmed series starring Philip Carey as the famous private detective created by novelist Raymond Chandler, will appear on NBC's fall schedule.

JUST AHEAD

LAUGH LINE, a new panel show, will replace "Behind Closed Doors" on the NBC network beginning April 16. It will continue until mid-June when "Bachelor Father" takes over the time spot, Thursday nights at 9 p. m.

DELILU PLAYHOUSE will do a two-part drama dealing with the Prohibition era on April 20-27. Starring will be Van Johnson, Keenan Wynn, Neville Brand, Bill Williams and Joe Mantell.

"The Praying Hands" by Albrecht Durer Tell an Easter Message of Faith and Love

The "Praying Hands" embody our Easter message in their attitude of love and supplication. One of 18 children, Durer, the "prince of German artists", was a poor boy who became one of the greatest figures in the stirring times of Luther . . . emperors, statesmen, kings, artists were proud to call him friend.

"Hold thou thy cross before my closing eyes;

Shine through the gloom and point me to the skies;

Heaven's morning breaks, and earth's vain shadows flee;

In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me!"

(This is the last verse of the old familiar hymn, "Abide with Me", by Henry F. Lyte).

STEEL MILLS
CHOSE NATURAL GAS
...IN 1874

IN 1874, THE ENTERPRISING FIRM OF ROGERS & BIRCHFIELD, IN LEECHBURG, PA., BECAME THE FIRST COMPANY TO MAKE IRON AND STEEL WITH NATURAL GAS. IT WAS USED AS A BOILER FUEL, FOR PUDDLING AND FOR HEATING FURNACES.

NOW, NATURAL GAS IS USED IN COUNTLESS WAYS IN MAKING STEEL, ALUMINUM, GLASS, BRASS, CERAMICS, BRICK AND MANY OTHER INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS. ONE-FIFTH OF ALL INDUSTRIAL USERS OF NATURAL GAS ARE LOCATED HERE IN AMERICA'S ORIGINAL NATURAL GASLAND. THE AVAILABILITY AND EFFICIENCY OF THIS LOW-COST FUEL CONTINUES TO ATTRACT INDUSTRY. THAT'S ONE REASON WHY NATURAL GAS CONTINUES TO BE THE PREFERRED FUEL THROUGHOUT THE SEVEN-STATE REGION WHERE COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM SERVES.

The POLITICS OF IT

Warren Countians desiring to win the nomination of their respective parties have been pounding the streets for votes these balmy days, but the ones who want a local option referendum on the liquor question are in a battle to get their petitions accepted by the board of elections.

The board, made up of commissioners Blain Mead, Lewis Crippen and L. L. Johnson, reviewed three petitions on the liquor question and bounced all of them back.

One was to Peryl M. Sorenson, Elk twp., because the petition did not contain the occupations of the signers; one to Rodney Barlow and Sidney Barlow, Sugar Grove Boro, same reason; and another to William A. Manning and Harold F. Beach because the petition was received after the designated closing time of 5 p.m. March 16.

All have filed an appeal to the court requesting the board of elections be ordered to accept the petitions. Each states they are within the law.

Manning and Beach claim that their petition was left with commissioner Mead the evening (believed to be about 9 p.m.) of the March 16 deadline date and that it was received in the office the following day. They further state that the petition was filed within the time provided by law.

In connection with the Conewango twp. issue Robert C. Knapp has filed a request to intervene as a party to the action and urged the court to uphold the board of elections in their decision. His papers stated: 1. The petitions were not properly filed under law; 2. They do not contain sufficient proper signatures in that in excess of 172 signatures do not indicate the township or street address were applicable.

Decisions on these issues are pending.

NO WITHDRAWALS

Election officials have reported there were no candidates who withdrew by the deadline Monday. This is exceptional in that it takes in all levels of county and local governments.

LESS FLAT-TAILS

The beaver population apparently is not growing in Warren county. There are many signs and several reasons for what may even be a reduction in the population of these ambitious animals.

Dave Titus, game warden, tagged thirty-eight pelts at his home last Saturday. He knows of ten or twelve others still to be sealed. This will make the count around forty, which is about the same as last year. Going back to 1950 the tagging figures ran as high as 121. In 1953 the number was 66, and in 1954 it was 73.

Some blame the low prices paid today for the reduced catch, and there is little doubt that the incentive for trapping has been lessened by a poor fur market. Beavers still are worth the effort, even at reduced prices, but trappers are not apt to find it worthwhile to seek only one animal, and those who have given up the sport because of the poor pay for muskrat and mink certainly comprise some of those who once included beaver as a part of their sport.

But we suspect a major part of the blame for the great drop in beaver hides is the population. The beavers have eaten themselves out of food in many areas, and as soon as they move complaints roll in. The wardens are faced with the problem of finding them new homes where they will not be troublesome and where there is a food supply. Such areas are not plentiful in Warren county.

The big fellows have chewed up most of their favorites, such as aspen, and it is conceivable that the day when advancing civilization, reduced feed, and big appetites will make the dam builder little more than a protected fur piece in controlled areas.

The poor deer also comes in for another licking in the midst of the beaver problem. The large herds compete with other animals for food, especially when that food involves young shoots of aspen. A deer herd can take it right out of their water-neighbors' mouths. The beaver then move to a farm area where they cause trouble. The warden is called in to move them... but where?

Obviously, as things are going, the move will be out of Warren county.

And considering the financial aspect, you know who will win if it becomes a choice between deer and beavers. The deer have it by several thousand hunters, who represent several million dollars to Pennsylvania bank accounts.

MORE GAME KILL

We slipped in some game kill figures last week at the last minute before our copy deadline, and we believe the big game totals were not included. The antlerless deer total moved up ten thousand from 1957. The figure was 65,187. The year before the hunters brought in 55,862.

The buck season saw a drop in the kill. The antlered ones lost 46,738 to the boom-booms, a reduction from the 49,254 of 1957.

The bear kill climbed to 439, up from 294 of the previous fall. It was the best season since 1947 when 569 bears were shot. The best season on record was 1924 when 929 of the big fellows were kapooted. In fact the 1958 kill compares fairly well with all the seasons of the past forty-two years. Only sixteen of these years produced more bears.

YMCA CAGE TOURNAMENT

The Style Shop nipped Blueberry Hill Inn, 73 to 72, to capture the Don Lundquist Memorial Basketball Tournament championship on the YMCA floor last Saturday night. Jack Karkosky, who paced the Stylers with 32 points, connected on a pair of foul shots with ten seconds remaining in the game to nail down the win for the Style Shop who finished the regular YMCA City League season in second place behind the Blueberry Hill Inn quintet. Dick Danielson led BHI with 21.

In tournament play last Thursday night the Style Shop nipped Youngsville Cabinet Shop, 60 to 59. Youngsville outscored the Stylers from the floor but their inability to score on foul shots proved costly. Karkosky paced the winners with 18 and Halfast hit 18 for Youngsville.

Joe's Confectionery clobbered Warren Components, 95 to 36. Nicky Creola scored 27 for Joe's and Bires hit 8 for Components.

In semi-final action on Friday night the Style Shop clipped Joe's Confectionery, 80 to 77. Bob Johnson led the winners with 33 and Creola hooped 32 for Joe's.

Blueberry Hill Inn eliminated Greener, 89 to 71. The loss of three Greener starters, two on fouls and another on an injury, changed the game from a close contest to a rout for BHI.

Following the close of the tournament team trophies were presented to the Style Shop, tournament champion, and Blueberry Hill Inn, the runner-up. Jack Karkosky, Style Shop, was named the tourney's most valuable player, and Pat Hartnett, Gaughn's Drug Store, was selected the tournament's most promising young player.

The all-tournament team selected at the close of the week-long event is composed of Jack Karkosky and Bob Johnson, Style Shop; Ron Warner, George Dewey and Gail Nelson, Greener's; Barry Drexler, Blueberry Hill Inn; Nicky Creola, Joe's Confectionery; and Bob Kolesar, Sheffield Merchants.

PLAYOFF ACTIVITY

Farrell, Kutztown and West Reading won state basketball championships last week end to close out the 1958-59 PIAA basketball season.

Farrell (District 7) rallied to knock over Chester (District 1), 76 to 66, to win the Class A championship. Farrell's 76 points is a new individual team scoring record for the PIAA Class A state championship and the 1959 state title is the Steeler's fourth in five state championship games. Chester, whose coach at the start of the season considered his team a logical contender for the state crown next year, will lose only one starter and two other squad members at June graduation.

Kutztown (District 3) overpowered West Middlesex (District 10), 51 to 34, to earn the Class B championship. The victory was the 29th of the season for the undefeated Cougars and is their first state championship since they won the crown in 1950 and 1951.

West Reading (District 2) clipped Lilly (District 6), 74 to 55, to take possession of the Class C state crown.

CHURCH LEAGUE - SENIORS

Grace Methodist dumped Holy Redeemer, 73 to 54, in action last Thursday night in the Senior Division of the Church Basketball League. Bob Haslet hit 26 and Jeff Branch hooped 25 for the Methodists. Priano scored 18 for Holy Redeemer.

First Methodist whipped First Presbyterian, 62 to 49, in another Thursday night contest. Bevevino paced the Methodists with 24 and John Colvin topped Presbyterian with 13.

GYM SHOW TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets are now on sale at the high school for the second annual Fitness for Youth program to be held in Beaty Gym on Thursday and Friday nights, April 9 and 10. About 200 Warren High School students are practicing their parts in the show which will reveal excerpts from the physical education program at the high school.

New additions have been made to this year's show which will be divided into three categories, marching, gymnastics and rhythm. Proceeds from the show will be used in the Warren High School physical education department.

BASEBALL MOVIE TONIGHT

Hitting and Bunting will be the titles of the baseball training films to be shown to Hot Stove League players, team handlers and other interested persons in the Warren Moose Club's fourth training session in the Moose rooms at 7 p.m. tonight.

The final session of the Hot Stove League umpire's school will be held immediately following the training film.

WIN IN JAMESTOWN TOURNNEY

The Warren Style Shop dumped Jamestown Grapevine, 68 to 43, in a first round game in the annual Jamestown YMCA Spring Basketball Tournament last Monday night. The Stylers jumped off to a 6 point lead at the end of the first period and widened that gap as the game progressed. Dick Hartnett meshed 11 and Hud Berdine scored 10 to pace the Style Shop.

The Warren quintet will enter second round play tomorrow night when they battle Royal Electric, a team comprised of Falconer, N.Y., high school varsity cagers and their varsity and junior varsity coaches.
